God is in the business of interrupting what we think our lives are about. Jen Hatmaker argues that we have missed the point, confusing Christianity with the American Dream and manipulating Scripture to say what we want it to say. Interrupted is about freedom from consumer-driven Christianity and getting back to Faith.

Author Jen Hatmaker has partnered with her husband Brandon in full-time ministry for fourteen years, and they recently started Austin New Church in Texas where she has lived for ten years. Jen is a popular speaker at retreats, conferences, and seminars for women from all denominations and backgrounds. She is the author of eight books and Bible studies, including Interrupted and A Modern Girl's Guide to Bible Study Series. Check out her ministry at JenHatmaker.com
